

It was a dark and stormy day until Dave lifted his cap.

“And what’s your name little man? You have such cute cheeks!”

“Hey lady, wanna free lunch?” Rick, the perpetual good scout.

"You may kiss my hand." Doyle admires that Debra will comply without Purell.

"I see you two are no strangers to the buffet line..."

"I promise I sent the check in last Thursday. It must be hung up in the mail." Craig (thinking) "if I had a dollar for every time I heard that line..."

“Oh I don’t know Robert, that sounds illegal.”

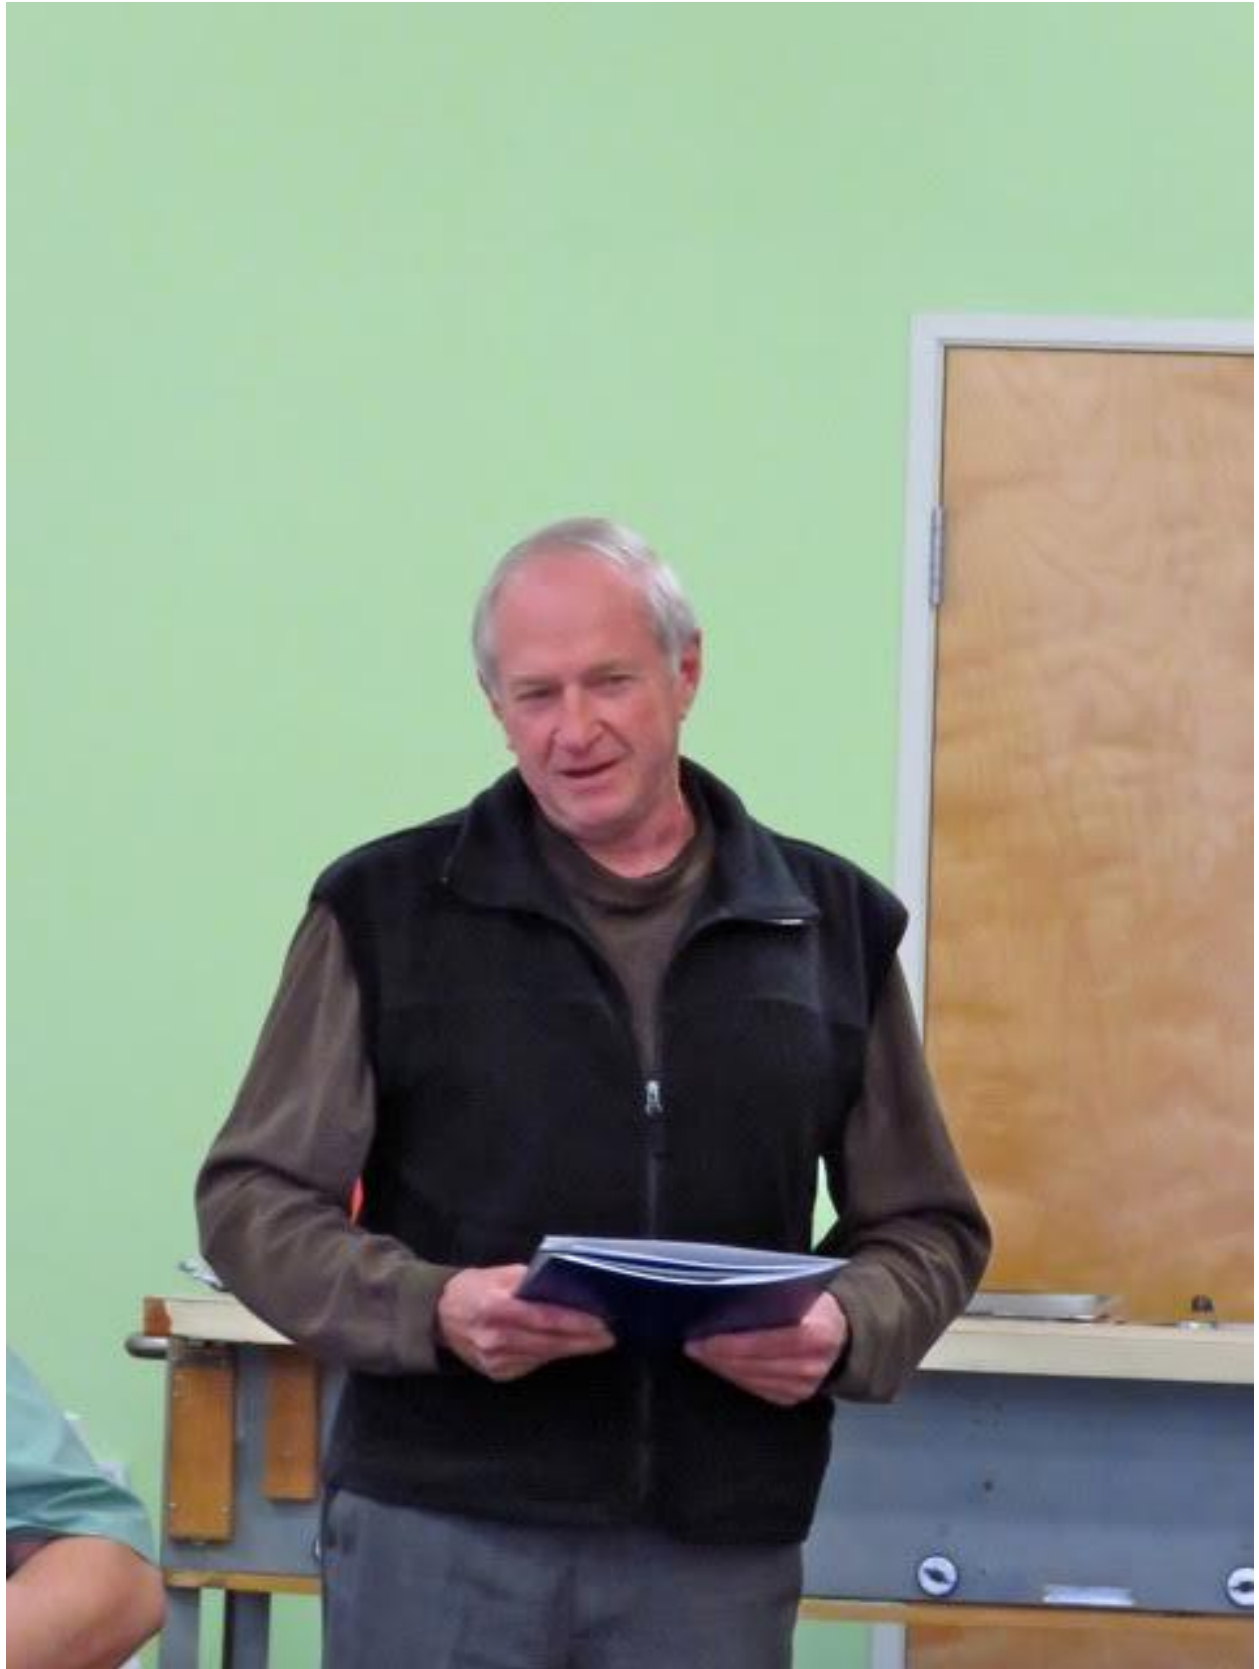

"I just got 15,000 points on Candy Crush! What level are you?" Bob Kavanaugh networks with Michelle Walch before the meeting.

"You can do it," Chris Taylor encourages our inbound student to report her week's adventures.

“You know what you are getting into, right?” Dale Mammen gives John Lasky his membership packet.

“I was born in a log cabin and learned to read by firelight....” John tells us a little of his history with previous Rotary clubs.

Wanted in several states for posing as the “Music Man.” Doyle Slater recognizes Dale Mammen for being the poster child for the Liberty Theatre featured on the cover of the Ruralite.

“Here’s me, here’s Finland, in the middle is cheese and candy.” Corral Jordan gives her report on short-term exchange to Finland last summer.
