

“Look, there he is, Santa is coming to town!” Dave and Jessy make an observation as Stacey looks on and Mary wonders what in the world these two yokels* are pointing at.

*Yokel: synonyms: bumpkin, rustic, country cousin, hayseed, hillbilly, hick, rube, clodhopper, yahoo, apple knocker

Jeff (thinking): “Can I really understand what this old guy is saying? Maybe I should just smile and nod like I always do.” Michael lectures Jeff on the deep meaning of social media.

“So all’s ya gotta do is write the check, Vinny.” Tim hustles Zee and Glenn for the Foundation.

“Then I heard him say....” Craig dishes the scoop to Michael and Zee.

“Wait a minute, Craig, let me turn on the microphone.” Zee wants this on tape.

“Anna one, anna two, all together everybody, the Rotary theme song!” Joel Lawerence Welks the crowd.

Rotary infested with a rash of Carpet One managers, past, present, and a visiting one from Baker City.

“I keep telling you people, ‘Chili’ is a hot pepper, ‘Chilly’ is when it is cold. ‘Chile’ is my country!”
Konni gives an update on her week’s activity.

"You're not a Rotary member, are you..." Joel is skeptical of Principal Baxter's credentials.

"Why yes, I do play an instrument. How kind of you to notice!" Al is tickled that Jessy noticed his participation in the community symphonic band.

“Here I am as a young witch.” Jerri gives her history as a spook.

“Here I am as a middle age witch.” Jerri describing her spook house.

“Here I am as an old witch!” Jerri describing life, generally.