While Michael, Craig and Rick approach the chicken salad plopped in a quartered tomato on pineapple with serious attention, Andi finds the pineapple amusing and Debra and Mary debate how and whether they will cut the tomato.

“Now I say, if you eat a lot of kale your beard will grow faster.” Rick gives Tucker and Nathan tips on how to maintain their hoary faces.

White legs—a result of genetics and therefore should not be laughed at! Don't be a white leg mocker!

And yes, red hair is attributable to genetics. Joel and Jason model their recessive genes.

Another redhead. Any resemblance to the two above is merely coincidental.

“Now you’re telling me you actually rented a spot to an alien spaceship at your RV park?” Al shows some incredulity at Dale’s story.

Vanna Watson will show you what is behind the box if you guess correctly.

Jason, being disciplined for being late to the lunch meeting, is relegated to the kiddie table by himself.

Joel welcomes Heather Watson to the club!

Joel welcomes Branden Way to the club.

Three of Doyle's old friends visit Rotary.
