

Rotary 1-29-19

Looks like there is one Tom Brady fan left. Steve looks for a less inflated seat—he is able to do lunch better if it isn't as hard.

Ta Da! Bob and Debra. Humble and unassuming, Bob arrives at the club meeting.

"I'm going to Daddy Daughter, are you going to "Party Like Pirates?" Zee markets the parish fund raising event at Our Lady. Michelle gathers ideas for next year's marketing of DDD.

“Level-up, Cool!” Tucker makes good progress on Assassin’s Creed video game. This is a requirement for all who work in Washington to hone their negotiating skills.

“Oh my Word!”

Mary looks at her watch...."Almost 12! Time to switch into Rotary mode!" Mike waits for her to change.

“I wonder what this Rotary is about....I see Michael writing checks...This must be a good thing?” Guest David Oni, professor of nursing, watches Michael do Craig’s job (who is in Hawaii having a great time while we are still clomping through snow in the 30’s—not that we are resentful).

Joel give the club an update on the El Salvador project. Wonderful young women, great opportunity, and a worthy project for La Grande Rotary.
