

Rotary 4-16-19

Colleagues Network: “In my day, I taught all the classes and swept up at night.” Doyle recalls his EOU career to colleagues Michael and Carol. The three had more than 100 years of combined service to EOU--Doyle accounting for most of that time!

Rotarians doing what they do best, “network.” Network: A 21st century concept that honors kibitzing, gossip, hot air, babble, jabber, prattle, and baloney as a necessary element of getting work done. My, Rotarians must get a great deal of work done based on their networking...

Mary networks by telling a joke: “ –What do you call a sleepwalking nun?
A “roamin” Catholic.” While Evy is amused, Dave is waiting for the punch line.

Economic Networking: “What are my odds of winning if you give me both halves of the tickets, Eric?” Michael explores ways to enhance his chances.

Joel tries a different tactic. “Come on, Eric, you can give me 20 tickets for a dollar, I’m the president!”

Networked-out, Shawn, Debra, and Stacey search for meaning.

Doyle introduces the speaker: “Today’s program is about Litter. Litter is a terrible thing and we shouldn’t have any of it in our community!” Carol whispers to Doyle, “That’s ‘literacy’.” “Oh, then never mind,” Doyle sits down.

Dr. Carol gives the Club a run-down on the benefits of a literate community.
