Leadership....

Secretary Null noting. "I wonder who's been naughty and who's been nice?"

“It’s just like a bill we get from the hospital, Jim. You pay for meals whether you eat them or not!”

“You mean that if I was the president I’d get to be first in the lunch line?” Rick re-thinking about being an officer

“I think the concerto is a bit much for Rotary, I’m just sayin’ Graham. You can do what you want, though.”

“What line can I use on these two to sell them tickets?” Eric contemplating using his charm or surprise attack to land some 50-50 money from Lana and Stacey.

“I caught a flounder in the hot tub about this big. Fell right out of that rainstorm we had.” Chris is thinking, “Did I just hear what I thought I heard?”

“Yeah, I don’t know about Woodstock, Nate. I have a job and all.” Braden dodges an invite for a road trip.

“I’m going to be secretary, Tim, not treasurer. I can’t do anything about reducing your dues.”

“Yeah, it’s me, I’m late and I’m leavin’ early. That’s life when you have people aching for your presence!”

“Will you take two tickets to a Notre Dame soccer game in lieu on my dues?” Mary works on Craig for a deal.

Craig purchased $10 in 50-50 tickets and won $7. What bank does he work for?

Rick gives Tucker the rubber hose treatment to join Rotary.
